

HAL OFFSHORE LIMITED

HSE POLICY

HAL Offshore Ltd.'s activities are undertaken with integrity, responsibility, respect for the health, safety, environment and the community in which these activities take place.

This entails conducting operations in an ethically and practically sound manner that minimizes risks and places high priority on the safety of those involved in our ongoing Oil & Gas EPC (Engineering Procurement and Construction) and LSTK (Lump-Sum turnkey) projects.

HAL Offshore Ltd. is committed to:

- Continual improvement of the HSE management system.
- Comply with all applicable Health, Safety and Environment (HSE) laws, compliance obligations and standards and to apply to responsible standards where legislation is inadequate or does not exist.
- Eliminate hazards and reduce OH&S risks.
- Develop effective HSE management systems to identify and manage risks associated with its activities by focusing on risk avoidance and prevention.
- Establish accountability and responsibility for HSE within Hal Offshore Limited line management.
- Provide training, equipment and facilities necessary to maintain a safe and healthy worksite.
- Support environmental protection, practice pollution prevention, and seek viable ways to minimize the environmental impact of operations, reduce waste, conserve resources, respect biodiversity and other specific commitment relevant to the context of Hal Offshore Limited.
- Ensure that partners and contractors' policies are compliant with our own standards and recognize that all working on our behalf can impact our operation and reputation and that we all share a common responsibility for our safety.
- Consultation and participation of workers, and workers' representatives.
